

February 06, 2026: On What Do You Even Want From Me?

Seriously, Donald and his group of hoodlum loser friends.

What the fuck do you even want from me anymore?

You want me to speak approval of your outrageous behavior and non-stop pleas for negative attention? Do you REALLY expect me to ever do that?

Literally, world, if I ever start approving of Donald Trump again please be extremely alert to the fact that I am under severe duress and threats.

Donald and Friends: I will never approve of your terrible behaviors. You are all acting like Nazi-tyrants trapped inside of a toddler's overgrown body.

I hate you. Deal with it. Stop bothering me! Seriously, there is nothing that you will ever gain from continuing this bullshit charade.

What do you gain from this? Nothing more than your own personal gratification of causing discomfort to someone else. Look at yourself in the mirror and re-consider your own life choices - stop staring at me through your little periscope.

I honestly will never support your efforts again and I will never recommend that anyone partner with you - no matter how closely you pretend to resemble someone that has the 'right' answers.

GO AWAY.

Yes, and of course the moment that I write those words your dumb asses drive another criminal past the front of my house.

Do whatever the fuck you want, assholes - it will never change the fact the you, personally, ruined every bit of good will that you had ever built up with the American public and the world.

You have all proven yourselves to be rapists, villains, and satanic emulators.

'ERECT' all of the new landmarks you want - THAT is what we will remember when we see them!

Yes, the message is clear from Donald Trump - if you even so much as THINK of going against his childish will to have everything in the world that he wants, he will permanently attach himself to your life and cry and whine, and lash out like a crying child to get you to pay attention to him and his non-stop evil and deceptive ways.

Way to go Donald. Remember all of those Texans that showed up to support you?

#1 Those are exactly the number of Texans that you personally betrayed; and #2) Those are exactly the number of Texans that will never support you again. Enjoy your 'billionaire' lifestyle and take your disgusting face from our public view already! WE HATE YOU!

(Seriously, another vehicle drives past my home 'have the last word' every single time I finish writing. THAT IS THE DONALD TRUMP THAT I WILL REMEMBER - or better yet. . QUICKLY FORGET!